

A Little Mo Moment

Read, Wonder, Try

For children, and the grown-ups reading with them.
A small moment together after any Little Mo story.

Pick one activity. There's no need to finish them all.

1

Notice

What happened to Little Mo? What caught your eye?

Start with what you noticed, without searching for a lesson.

2

Feel

How did Little Mo feel? Have you ever felt that way?

Choose a face on the next page, draw your own, or simply tell each other.

3

Pause

Little Mo takes a quiet moment. What might he notice inside?

Try one slow breath together. A quiet moment can be enough.

4

Wonder

What did Little Mo see differently? What would you try?

Imagine another ending, or act it out. Different ideas are welcome.

5

Try

What one kind, brave or honest thing could you try today?

Grown-ups can choose a little step too. Share only if you want to.

A gentle reminder

"I don't know", passing, and silence are all welcome. This is a moment to enjoy together, not a test. Simply being together counts.

Our Little Mo Moment

Draw, chat, write, or leave it blank. Choose what feels right today.

Story _____

Read with _____

Draw a moment — or imagine what happens next

A feeling from the story. A feeling in me.

Circle a face, point to one, or add your own. More than one is okay.

Happy

Sad

Cross

Unsure

Calm

Surprised

Something I noticed

One small step I might try

A thought to share — grown-ups too

No perfect answers. No need to fill every space. Just a little time together.